At eight o'clock we said goodbye
That's when I left her house for mine
She said that she'd be staying in Well, she had to be at work by nine

So I get home and have a bath
And let an hour or two pass
Drifting in front of my TV
When a film comes on that she wants to see

*It's Monday morning 5.19
And I'm still wondering where she's been Cause every time I try to call
I just get her machine

And now it's almost 6 a.m.
And I don't want to try again
Cause if she's still not back*
And then this must be the end
At first I guess she's gone to get Herself a pack of cigarettes
A pint of milk, food for the cat
But it's midnight now and she's still not back
Repeat*
Cause if she's still not back that heaven knows, what then, is this the end?

At half past two I picture her
In the back of someone else's car
He runs his fingers through her hair
Oh, you shouldn't let him touch you there
Repeat*
Cause if she's still not back that heaven knows, what then, is this the end?
