It's been a longer drive
Than I could ever prescribe
To anyone who's claustrophobic
And it's a matter of time
Before we crossed the line
And I could say it's not worth holding Onto something else that's going down the drain
Or else I'm going to look for someone else to blame

It's so pathetic and its worth forgetting
And our home is opposite from where were heading

Trying to understand that
Home is where the heart is we'll always come home Yeah we love the open road but home is where the heart
Not to worry cause we'll always come home
Not to worry cause we'll always come home

And how could I forget
The feeling of regret
When we were faced with
What to do next
Was it lack of hope
Or was it giving up
And Losing sight of what's important
And everything you knew seemed so far away
Wake up in the backseat almost everyday

It's so pathetic and its worth forgetting
And our home is burning? and we kept pretending

Trying to understand that
Home is where the heart is we'll always come home
Yeah we love the open road but home is where the
heart
Not to worry cause we'll always come home
Not to worry cause we'll always come home

There's not an ocean in sight
One day I'll get away

And how could I forget
The feeling of regret
When we were faced with
What to do next
Was it lack of hope
Or was it giving up
And Losing sight of what's important

Trying to understand that
Home is where the heart is we'll always come home
Yeah we love the open road but home is where the
heart
Not to worry cause we'll always come home
Not to worry cause we'll always come home
