Hold my head up
Higher than the sky, you lost my trust
Frostbite, colder than zero degrees
I know what you're saying about me

So it won't be right
'Til you figure out just why
You're so bitter now
And you can't deny
How many times I've tried
To keep my feet on the ground

Cause a world of glass houses
Is no place to grow
So what you doing about it
Still throwing stones
When you gonna realize
You're hurting inside
So don't, don't you throw, throw those stones

Stand up I'm standing
Taller than you are, you look quite small
This could be everything you want it to be
If you would just be happy for me

So it won't be right
'Til you figure out just why
You're so bitter now
And you can't deny
How many times I've tried
To keep my feet on the ground

Cause a world of glass houses
Is no place to grow
So what you doing about it
Still throwing stones
When you gonna realize
You're hurting inside
So don't, don't you throw, throw those stones

When it all comes tumbling down, tumbling

You'll be wondering, wondering
Why there's nobody around
Turn back around
Turn back around

Cause a world of glass houses
Is no place to grow
So what you doing about it
Still throwing stones
When you gonna realize
You're hurting inside
So don't, don't you throw, throw those stones

A world of glass houses
Is no place to grow
So don't, don't you throw, throw those stones
