Let all things be undone
Live my life one more time
Take me back to square one
There is a state that I must find

Which road do I take back to square one
Which wall do I break back to square one
Which road do I take back to square one
Tell me which wall do I break back to square one

Give me a clue

Every day, every hour
I,ve gone through in my mind
Despite all my will power
There is a place I cannot find

Which road do I take back to square one
Which wall do I break back to square one
Which road do I take back to square one
Just tell me which wall do I break back to square one

Give me a clue now

Will I ever reach our destination
And if I do, will I make it in time?
Gotta find a way before the day is over

Let all things be undone
Live my life one more time
Take me back to square one
Back to when everything was fine

Which road do I take back to square one
Which wall do I break back to square one
Which road do I take back to square one
Just tell me which wall do I break back to square one

Show me the way to the road I seek
And then the way to the wall to break down
Cause I dont know which way to go

Back to square one

Show me the way to the road I seek
And then the way to the wall to break down
Cause I dont know which way to go
Back to square one

(Won't you tell me) Which road do I take back to square
one
Which wall do I break back to square one
Which road do I take back to square one
Won't you tell me which wall do I break back to square
one

Give me a clue now
