"Love Is Gone"

The night is young
Im sitting at this party
Im gazing at my empty glass
Im looking out
At this endless ocean
Of glamour girls
And gucci-dressed partners

When snowflakes are dancing
Theres no sight of romancing
When the tense pushes on
Then love is gone

One by one
Im never satisfied
The voices around me
(The voices)
Its so easy to forget
All the things that Ive said
And a lie is already cracking up

The heat of your body
Reflects just the same
I wanna get more out of my life
Than just a shame
But the touch of your hand
Makes me act like a man
Although the focus of love
Has vanished
