You swore you'd meet me on the other side your alibi is intact and your story clears honesty puts you in the clear my dear you're more than a drama more than a struggle more than a two-bit faker of a love that stabs you in back it's a peaceful type of heart attack you give got my questions

got my answers exude sincerity

for me to feel like this I must be kidding myself because I'm so happy here and I won't ever get out I said I lost my smile some time ago but you gave it back you gave it back

wait...
where are my priorities?
