You're sitting there you're disillusioned
And you're hoping I'll get to you in the end
How can i? your disillusion
Makes you find a broken heart and take a friend

I don't only love you
When you're standing by my side
I don't only love you
When you see things my way
I don't suddenly not love you
Now you're up in your own tree
'Cause I'll always love you me

Times at night you're tearing pages to the post
Worry calling all your true loves home
That's no way no way to spend your time
You can catch that lightning on your own

Time is passing by
Take a good look now what do you see
I don't even know if that's a crime
You can be the judge and I'll just be me

In agony we drew a circle with a stone
What's the colour of the raindance I don't know
When it closes in I know you'd rather be alone
In the day's disguise night's howling at the moon

I don't only love you
When you're standing by my side
I don't only love you
When you see things my way
I don't suddenly not love you
Now you're up in your own tree
'Cause I'll always love you me
'Cause I'll always love you me
'Cause I'll always love you me
