Deadlines and commitments five o'clock on Friday
All I'm thinking 'bout is everything I have to do Phone rings and a voice says "Don't forget you promised
The show's at six, daddy I'm counting on you"
My work's not done and the traffic's bad
This day's really getting to me
I barely make it as I rush inside curtain goes up
And then I see

A pirouette across the stage, a daughter's smile
My troubles fade
I look at her and see the truth
Love's the greatest thing I'll do

Strawberries in season, don't need another reason
To take the afternoon and pick ourselves a basket or two
An hour down the highway, there's a perfect place
Bet there'd be nobody out there but me and you
Red berries on your sweet lips
I love the way you're looking at me
Like a couple of kids we tumble down
Side by side in this field of green

The sunlight streaks across your face
You still take my breath away
I look at you and see the truth
Love's the greatest thing I'll do

It's really just the simple things
When all is said what my life means
When each and every day is through
Love's the greatest thing
Love's the greatest thing
Love's the greatest thing I'll do
