My golden sand

You tingle me so much and I even so I am not able to forget about you.

This golden colour, which engraved to my memory.

The scent, touch of Your footprints.

This sensation of fire and hiding place.

Perhaps you are my treasure or you are my ending.

It's difficult to remember and it's even more difficult to forget it.

Because if the wind blows you away, you will come back.

It's the same as if I permanently think of you.
