every tiny step by Jan Rot Every tiny step you're making when you walk around, every tiny step, every time you hit the ground, every tiny step is witnessed by my eyes, my dear: I'm a detective. Every tiny word coming from your tiny mouth, every tiny word, no matter what you talk about, every tiny word is witnessed by my ears, my dear: I'm a detective.
No movement is escaping my eyes, no sound is escaping my ears. I will go where you go: I'm on a mission from love. I'm a private detective paid by myself. I gotta find out how I can win ye all for myself. And every tiny thing you put on your fingerprints, every tiny thing, every note and every hint, every tiny thing is witnessed by my gloves, my love: I'm a detective.
