

Rickie Lee Jones

"A Stranger's Car"

Visit "A Stranger's Car" on MotoLyrics.com

Take the train, oh, you have run
As far as you can go
They've tied your fingers to rails of stars
But can you hear the whistle blow?

There is no one here to beat out your brains
There's no one who'll make you cry
If your parents kill you year by year
Well, here's the time to say goodbye

And it's oh, so bad from far away
And it's always warm inside
And there's children there
There is children there

Who will touch your face?
Who will fill your pockets?
Avoid that tangled street
And who will count the marbles there?
And who will save your penny ring?

Come and meet the angels born this day
Sleep now, the night is late
Be still until this wayward bird
Let's go off Heaven's gate

Visit Rickie Lee Jones page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.