(Cassidy Jones)

There comes a time in everyone's life, you gotta slow down and find the light Surrender the losing fight, take your wrongs and make 'em right Leave the past in the past, don't let no one bring you down Keep your head above the clouds, you're safe in his arms now Maybe soon you'll see, with your brand new wings
(Chorus)

Now I'm free and I finally believe that I don't have to face this world alone
And now I see how good life can be
When I'm living right and my spirit is strong
He relieves my tension - this is my redemption Well I know I'm not a saint, I don't always do what's right
Sometimes I stay out all hours of the night
But when I make it home, and at the end of the day,
I get down upon my knees and bow my head and pray
It takes me away, to a brand new place
(Chorus)

Now I'm free and I finally believe that I don't have to face this world alone
And now I see how good life can be
When I'm living right and my spirit is strong
He relieves my tension - this my redemption
This is my redemption
