(Cassidy Booth Deforest)

When it stops snowing in Colorado
When there's no music in Tennessee When all the oil is gone from Texas, just forget about me
When nobody smiles at babies
When there's no cowboys and rodeos
When there's no reason to thank the good Lord, you can let me go

(Chorus)

I'll stop loving you when the clouds fall from the sky
I'll stop loving you when the Mississippi River runs dry
When the mountains sway and the world
goes away and the devil becomes a friend I'll stop loving you, I'm just letting you know that's when When there's no answer to all your questions
When there's no questions left to be asked When not a soul living in glass houses have stones to cast
When I forget how you make me happy
When that sparkle is gone from your eye There's no chance this could ever happen, and here's the reason why

(Chorus)

I'll stop loving you when the clouds fall from the sky
I'll stop loving you when the Mississippi River runs dry
When the mountains sway and the world
goes away and the devil becomes a friend
I'll stop loving you, I'm just letting you know that's when I'll stop loving you, I'm just letting you know that's when
