I've waited for the sunrise but it never came
I can see all the people somehow they're not the same They're lost in the dreams in the schemes that my eyes couldn't see
The wishing wells, the small hotels are what you left me

You said goodbye to me today, you left me on my own Someone's gotta help me find my way, I'm standing here alone
I said please stay, you laughed and walked away, it's all over now
I can't believe it, I can't conceive it that you're gone somehow

The smiling faces, the warm embraces, they're all in the past
Your sweet caress, my happiness, it just couldn't last People say that I am just a fool that I should go back home
I just smile and say I'm doing fine, I'm glad that I'm alone
I guess I'll go back home, I'll always be alone
