I'm trying to keep some distance
A little breathing room
But in spite of all my resistance
Something's drawing me to you

I know that I should know better
No good can come of this
Why fly into stormy weather
When I know how dangerous it is

But oh, just one look at you
And I lose my altitude
Girl, you got me falling, falling
And now, no matter how I try
There's just no way that I can defy gravity

How did I get in this situation
Better yet, how do I escape
I fall into temptation
Just the mention of your name

And oh, just one look at you
And I lose my altitude
Girl, you got me falling, falling
Now, no matter how I try
There's just no way that I can defy gravity
