O-oh how come,
a knock on the door and it's devastating news An astronaut still young to the core has heard his dream being achieved but he said

I know that I'm not the same though the similarities I'm gonna go, make my way they got the Moon but I'll conquer Mars

As time flew by, big disks in the sky appeared, glowing near the clouds One night near dawn the boy saw one of them take off from the ground so he said

I know that I'm not the same
I'm gonna go, make my way
they got the Moon but I'll conquer Mars

"Headline Edition, July 8th, 1947.

A flying disk has been found and is now in Roswell, New Mexico"

Space in your mind,
feel the tides,
magnet waves,
paradise crawls right by
for some light,
we must fight

for some light

I'm gonna go, make my way they got the Moon but I'll conquer

No matter where Mars may be I can feel what is right for me there are more ways than we think and to trust our way is what sets us free
