As i walk up a street i lift my head up and i face you you look good, you smell sweet, which makes it harder to embrace you and i was back in primary in a playground i will chase you but i'm noths, i'm just me i know you might be what i'm looking for but my head was functioned properly and my feet don't move in time and next week i'll forget probably but today you've blown my mind and as we talk, i'm going red and i'm feeling like a schoolkid all these boobs that fill my head i bet i say something stupid just play it cool and keep it come and remember what your mother said: now boy, just use your charme, but all that good advice gets lost somewhere cause my mouth just won't work right today, all my head is full with blinds if only i could find the words to say, we could spend a lifetime spend a lifetime, spend a lifetime lalalalalalalaaaaa,lalalalalalalaaaaa
