Well I don't judge or ask for much I'm not looking for opinions
I respond only to touch because I never learned to listen
Oh how typical typical of me to give up as it's getting good Don't waste your breath on your sympathy Because you always said you could but I just never thought you would Cause it's a constant tragedy connecting you and I
And I laugh when I hear you say I wanna feel alive
I wanna be with you one more night and just you and I
And the city light let's do it one more except this time
let's get it right
And was it easy to let me go cause it seems like you're doing fine
Did you like the late night lust while listening to third eye blind or was it all a lie And I don't mind pretending things are fine but you desiccate my life
I guess you never learned to love am I not good enough or are we giving up to soon Smart girl you got me wanting you now Cause it's a constant tragedy connecting you and I and I laugh when I hear you say I wanna feel alive
I wanna be with you one more night just you and I
And the city light let's do it one more except this time
let's get it right
And my head spins from alcohol and nicotine
From the feeling of when I slide between your thighs inside you
Do you feel as used as I do When you scream do you wish it wasn't me or do you cry yourself to sleep Cause I'm not there and I'll never be there again It's a constant tragedy connecting you and I
And I laugh when I hear you say I wanna feel alive
I wanna be with you one more night just you and I and the city lights
We'll do it one more time except this time we'll get it right
