Why does it always rain on me?
I'm trying to get his best to miss I feel like all this waiting just got me home but not enough to grow up
So I wish you the best; at finding out your own path
You'll try to find a way; pretend to be alright

I gotta stop this fucking drinking I gotta stop my fucking lying

Take it back, take it back to the days playing hide and seek under your covers
Take it back, take it back to the days I thought I swore my lies were over
Tell me, tell me did you ever have a clue?
Your love was my drug.
On my knees begging to be back with you
My neck is tied to choke on

I'm getting sick of adding useless lyrics to this song
When I think of what I've done, it's clear I'm the one who's wrong
So I wish you the best; at finding out your own path You'll try to find a way; and here is what I've done up to now

UP TO NOW.

I would swim until my last breath let out of my lungs
If I drown I wouldn't care; cause your love was a key that gave me air
I would even set myself up in flames
Even though this skin won't hold the pain
Just to hear your voice again
Just to hear your voice, my friend

Take it back, take it back to the days playing hide and
seek under your covers
Take it back, take it back to the days I thought I swore
my lies were over
Tell me, tell me did you ever have a clue?

Your love was my drug.
On my knees begging to be back with you
My neck is tied to choke on
