

Inna Modja

"Spirit"

Visit "Spirit" on MotoLyrics.com

Back in the days, she was seventeen
She was young and restless and had a dream
The world she lived in was tough and mean
But her faith in life kept her safe and clean Struggling, hoping, even fighting to find a way for a better day
She choosed her fight and she did it right
The change will come and The chance will last

No more prejudice, no more shame
She won't take the blame, she will carry the flame
Spreading the word about a new revolution
No more standards, no more cliché
Love Evolution is the new revolution
Love Evolution is the new revolution
Love Evolution is the new revolution

I will call her name, scream all my faith, believe in miracles
I will call her name, scream all my faith, believe in
miracles

Struggling for life, in the seventies
She was smart and fearless and wouldn't scream
The pain she felt in, yeah she was fierce
She was proud and conscious that love would win
Praying, hoping, even fighting
The sun will shine for another day
She wouldn't give up, she always tried
To keep her head up and lead her life

No more injustice, no more blame
She won't feel ashamed, she will carry the flame
Spreading the word about a new revolution
No more standards, no more cliché
Love Evolution is the new revolution
Love Evolution is the new revolution
Love Evolution is the new revolution.

