Even on the hottest days of the year
My heart's so cold and left with no touch in here
My mind is blank though I filled it for days I think of only one thing but in so many ways

I've become so overflowing with life and death is far away on the other side I think sometimes I'm almost happy here but still there's a hole, and I find nothing to fill

In all my dreams
you're in front of me
the only thing here
that is left with me
The need (in me)
The need (in me)
The need (in me)
The need

I'm so physically addicted to you
Every Inch of me is screaming for you
the beginning and the come down too

But my dreams are all I have

And even though it's not like I'm dead
I find myself locked up for hours inside my head
I don't know why I'm doing this to myself
I don't think there even is a thing called myself

Since you cracked up my mind and found yourself a new home what was me starts to blur and all I used to know

In all my dreams
you're in front of me
the only thing here
that is left with me
The need (in me)

The need (in me)
The need (in me)
The need

I'm so physically addicted to you
Every Inch of me is screaming for you
I'm so physically addicted to you
the beginning and the come down too
I'm so physically addicted to you
Every Inch of me is screaming for you
I'm so physically addicted to you
the beginning and the come down too

{I always thought that we could Make it through somehow held so hard onto thought I really had you now
but my dreams are all I have but my dreams are all I have} (solo+piano)

but my dreams are all I have
but my dreams are all I have
but my dreams are all I have
but my dreams are all I have
but my dreams are all I have
but my dreams are all I have
but my dreams are all I have
but my dreams are all I have
but my dreams are all I have
but my dreams are all I have
but my dreams are all I have
