"Calling You"

You came into my life, I was so confused

Made it oh so clear, I could never lose

I was waiting for another rainy day

Then you came along, and took it all away

The rain just keeps on falling, when your not around

When I wake up I am calling out your name

I can hear the distant calling of the love that I have found

I can see you when I close my eyes to pray

Im calling you

Im calling you

You know as time goes by, you made me realize

That your the one for me, your love is no disguise

When you hold my hand, tell me that your mine

Feels like heaven, true love is hard to find

The rain just keeps on falling, when your not around

When I wake up I am calling out your name

I can hear the distant calling of the love that I have
found

I can see you when I close my eyes to pray

Im calling you

Im calling you

Im calling you

Im calling you

The rain just keeps on falling, when your not around

When I wake up I am calling out your name

I can hear the distant calling of the love that I have
found

I can see you when I close my eyes to pray

Im calling you

Im calling you

Im calling you

Im calling you
