I think you should begin
Start bringing out the truth
Let's share the mystery

You say that I'm captured in secrets and lies
But I need time to think

You're ruining everything
If you think that you love someone else
Then show me the man
Maybe I'll understand

Never thought this could happen to me

This kind of life now
It shouldn't be What you did
What you said
What you thought
What you felt
It was not alright
To me and to you end to them and to all of our dreams
Every word
Every sigh
Every touch
Every lie
Doesn't mean a thing.
To me and to you and to them and to all of our dreams

I've been trying to talk to you
No new words to tell
You have changed a lot
You should talk cause I know quite a bit about you
My head is confused
Oh how can you carry on Assuming that your love would always be mine
You took my presence for granted
So I did with your lies
I don't know why you think that I'm lying to you that's the way I feel
It shouldn't be
