We all fall, into the faded past.
Through it all, we will have made it last.

We all fall, into the photograph.
Through it all, We choose the pastel lights.

I will be waiting in the shapes of time,
Realigning the matter between your heart & mind.

I will be waiting in the patterns of time
Reuniting the colors between your soul & mine.
When will you come down to save...

We all fall, into the photograph.
Through it all, We choose the pastel lights.

I will be waiting in the shapes of time,
Realigning the matter between your heart & mind.

I will be waiting in the patterns of time
Reuniting the colors between your soul & mine.
When will you come down to save... tomorrow.
