To all you people standing proud, thinking you know what I'm about:

I think you can fuck yourself (Let's go!)

From your safe distance in this crowd

That's when your voice becomes so loud

Still trying to keep us down (Whoa)

Walk one mile in shoes I never asked to fill

But still I press onâ€¦.

I slipped, I fell, then I lost everything

My hope, my faith, in what the future brings

In hopes of pushing past the ties that brings us down

We sing together now.

Give me one reason to look you in the eye (Just one!)

Tell me exactly why it is that you think you are worth my time

I slipped, I fell, then I lost everything

My hope, my faith, in what the future brings

In hopes of pushing past the ties that brings us down

We sing together now.

To all the ones that shake my hand

Then talk your shit behind my back

To those who claim they understand

But never heard of what I said

In spite of you I am still here

This vision's never been more clear

As we sing together now.
