

Rise To Remain

"Feathergun In The Garden Of The Sun"

Visit "Feathergun In The Garden Of The Sun" on MotoLyrics.com

Rubber like your lover's neck you tripped into the garden, you tripped into the garden of the sun On you tried, unbuttoned eyes, imprelious telusion, tripping past your guard into the sun These dreamers, so eager, throw their hands in the fight
I spy walrus tooth in the way outside of the shoegaze revolution

I'm seein' bright lights, silhouettes of knife fights and I see it all, I see it all I'm seein' bright lights in-between the knife fights and I see it all, I see it all
I see it all through the wolves in the walls Who might you be, who should you be Killing with featherguns when they don't understand you're fighting for ground control

Stealing glances colorblind encouraging confusion, crossing all the boundaries undrawn...
... I'm hearin' white lies coursing through the disguises, I hear it all, I hear it all I'm hearin' lost cries chorusing the night sky and I hear it all, I hear it all...

... hands bound behind withered backs, blindfolds laid on hollow eyes too hopeless to hear Ready... aim... fire...
Change ammunition, don't give a war of attrition tacit permission to minimize genocide...

Visit Rise To Remain page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.