All the same I chased the Cheshire looked for all the same relief
And further more I dug in further more than you can bury deep it's so Sad to see so glad you found your own way out Arraign your head with crowns invisible high
Remember why you're here is to inspire
For what it's worth it's hollow pantomiming what's it worth to you
To be sure lick the needle to be sure you're truly through it's so
Sad to see so glad you found your own way out
Arraign your head with crowns invisible high
Remember why you're here is to inspire

Apart from all of these still waves the fissures open to align
Have some water, friend, you're looking pale
This wasn't part of the design Beware the storm, avoid the frozen rain Ash the passing dusty collar Inserting spikes for their embrace Forgetting why you're here is to inspire Quit bleeding it's how they found us so responsive draining out across the floor seeping through the chasm frail and wanting needing nothing less than more curtain vague illusions from the sideshow to dispel the fantasy bleeding ever bleeding always bleeding 'till the vein runs dry Here take this nail and push it inside in fuckin' hatter
You'll feel so much better as this nerve dies, in true Alice fashion
Drive out the centering
