The feeling stays. Have we ever met at all?
Please tell me why everything's wrong.
Stop telling me what to think. I'll take a moment of your time.
No need to remind me.
I can't stand this any longer, the feeling keeps getting stronger.
The stars spell out your name, and sparkle till they fade.
Another day left wondering what could've been
between us.
I made up my mind about this story. Your words were no glorious themes to my dreams, stitches to my seams, I'm blaming all of my agony upon you. You took my heart and ripped it in two, in your green eyes I'll find truth, it took too long to get close to you, if we were in love then I never knew. I'm falling for you!
The colors fade. They take away the brightness from your eyes.
Can't you hear these cries from across the states,
It's hard to relate to those times.
