she was frustrated by the love on that night benighted all her day without light, she wanted to end up her life don't want to live in this world anymore please don't think that there's no other chance to love again try to turn around and notice the one who waits for so long in your love and he'll lift you up i'm here for you i'll ignite the candle to make light between you and me, the candle is melting from the fire while i'm staring through i see my sympathetic in you don't let your tears fall like a raindrop maybe it wont stop, if ever you're in the midstream that flood critically take hold of my hand and make it tight let me die for you coz my love is true

i will always be here for you no matter what the nature do i dont care how risk kill me i'll be here to guide you...
