you're all i had in this teenage twilight your golden hair and pale blue eyes but through all the days and the sleepless nights we have never been satisfied tumbling like the leaves yeah we are spiraling on the breeze almost to the point of no return everything will burn baby burn!

Look into my tired eyes see something you don't recognize bonds that can't be untied oh this is slow suicide
feelings that i can't disguise and never will be reconciled oh something inside has died you walk like you're in a daze unresponsive eyes in a distant gaze like all the good times have flown away and the memories have a bitter taste

destructive love is all we have destructive love is all i am

bonds that won't be untied
and never will be reconciled

vicious bitter words are becoming more and more cruel but you always take me back and let me lick your wounds

and never will be compromised oh something inside has died
