So she's an ordinary girl and she steps into this world she can wear if it stinks she'll wear brown with pink She doesn't care what she does she doesn't care what she thinks before they give a fuss her heart completely sinks She'll show you what she's been made up to

she's got what you wish
a splattered kind of please she doesn't care what you think
and every other smile
she had them for a while even if she's not in between she'll still be a homecoming queen like your mom would say you'll be like them someday but this girl is being herself she doesn't think to be she just want to see she'll be there for you if you say if you do while it taking time like a little shine

i don't care what she'll do to you
