A camera flash, helps capture, every detail you try to forget
As people gather around
Nothing is sacred and nothing is sound
You'll remember this moment
Until the day that you die
Everything seems so out of reach
The pain in your chest makes it so hard to breath

Bow Your Head
Surrender, your thoughts feelings and emotions
Don't be scared, this is your fate
Don't look back, remember
This is your love, your devotion
Don't be scared this is your fate

It took a lifetime to build these walls
And with a whisper they burn to the ground
This is your last goodbye and no one can save his life
If only there were a way, to turn back the hands of time
I couldn't see this coming I couldn't hear the warning
I've lost all my faith in every word you say

Your fate is blind and mistaken
His life will not be forsaken
I'm falling on my own, I'm falling all alone
These words won't be my crutch this life is mine I'll never give it up, I'll never surrender, never surrender

This is your last goodbye and no one can save his life
If only there were a way, to turn back the hands of time
I couldn't see this coming I couldn't hear the warning
I've lost all my faith in every word you say

Breaking down the door
Which has held us in
We've all been here before
We must fight this to the end
Breaking down the door
Breaking down the door
Breaking down the door

Breaking down the door
We must fight this to the end

A camera flash warms my face
A dark cold surrounding, a tragedy's place
He's standing there reaching for me
As I'm turning away I am able to breath

Never Surrender.
