I feel something tearing us apart
I feel something tearing us apart
I'd like to put an end to it
But don't know how to start
I feel something tearing at my heart
I feel something tearing us apart

I've got feelings you're just about to leave
I've got feelings you're just about to leave
You say it isn't true, my love
But you're so hard to believe
I feel something tearing at my heart
I feel something tearing at my heart

I see someone trying to be my friend
I see someone trying to be my friend
He's been with us from the start, my love
He'll be with you till the end
I feel something tearing at my heart
I feel something tearing at my heart

I hear something you're just about to say
I hear something you're just about to say
When I ask you what's the matter?
You say everything's okay
I feel something tearing at my heart
I feel something tearing at my heart

Could it be the life we lead, the way we break the law?
Could it be the life we lead, the way we break the law?
Could we both end our lives in jail
For some mistake I never saw?
I feel something tearing at my heart
I feel something tearing at my heart

I've heard rumors you've joined the other side
I've heard rumors you've joined the other side
Could there be any truth to this
Or just my injured pride?
I feel something tearing at my heart
I feel something tearing at my heart

I sense disaster waiting in the wings
I sense disaster waiting in the wings
Or is it just the sense of pain
That every heartache brings?
I feel something tearing at my heart
I feel something tearing at my heart

I feel something tearing us apart
I feel something tearing us apart
I'd like to put an end to it
But don't know how to start
I feel something tearing at my heart
I feel something tearing us apart
