I've tasted love and I can't return
All my doubts and fears are burned
I've been set free, a rescued soul
I'm finally out of the cold
I've tasted love and I can't return

I'm growing old and I've been told that it won't last
But I've tasted love, now I can't go back

I have gained and I have lost
Joy accompanied the cost
I've been set free, a rescued life
I'm finally at home tonight
I've tasted love and I can't return

I'm growing old and I've been told that it won't last
I've tasted love, now I can't go back
I'm growing old and I've been told that it won't last
Oh, and let it be said, I've tasted love I will never go back

Love is here, calling me home
And now I can't return

Take me home
I will sing, I can't return
Love is here and it calls me home
I will sing, I can't return
