The most painful thing when it was done was finding out the only one who believed it was worth fighting for was me

I found out a long time ago, the bitter taste of letting go

You know I wish my heart could know what sets it free

But when I fall, it's all the way down

Yeah, I fall all the way down

By offering I dare impart the altar of a broken heart

Per chance to steal some of her artful majesty

But that presumes that I'll cooperate and cut the bonds of love and hate

And so I choose instead to liberate it's hold on me

But when I fall, it's all the way down

Yeah, I fall all the way down

Fall all the way down

And I've been around

High and mighty, strong and steady

Self-assured but best be ready

Love will turn your everything around

Down you tumble, slip and stumble

The walls around you crack and crumble

Defences shattered scattered on the ground

When I fall, it's all the way down

Yeah, I fall all the way down

Fall all the way down

And I've been around

I've been around

I've been around

I've been around
