"Plain Life"

Staring in a daze, but I'm not looking at you
I'm thinking of all the things that I'd rather do
But not really thinking about what I want to be
'Cause 20 years from now is another lifetime to me
Do you think I care when you're laughing at me
You might control the team but you can't control me
Not really understanding what it takes to be a man
So I think I'll stay a kid while I can
When will you realize this is your life
That nothing stays the same
When will you realize this is your life
Your life is fucking plain
