Listen for the faint sound of truth
From you, but it seems that you don't know
If we were electricity
I think we might have been unplugged
But now we'll never know
But now we'll never know

Listen for the faint sound of truth
From you, but it seems that you don't know
If we were electricity
I think we might have been unplugged
But now we'll never know

When the snow falls, make an angel
The air's thin, so breathe in
When the snow falls, make an angel
In December I'll wait for you again

I'm waiting for snow to prove
She wont laugh, she wont dance, and she wont move
Show me your eccentricity
I think we might have been
But now we'll never know

When the snow falls, make an angel
The air's thin, so breathe in
When the snow falls, make an angel
In December I'll wait for you again

It takes a lonely, lonely person
To wait for the snow to fall, snow to fall
It takes a lonely, lonely person
To wait for the snow to fall, snow to fall

When the snow falls, make an angel
The air's thin, so breathe in
When the snow falls, make an angel
In December I'll wait...

When the snow falls, make an angel
The air's thin, so breathe in

When the snow falls, make an angel
In December I'll wait for you again
