

Johnny Lökke

"Prayer For The Dying"

Visit "Prayer For The Dying" on MotoLyrics.com

One more night alone looking at the moon
Wishing for things that will never come, never come
Bathed in the sweet blue-white light shining down
The embers of the silent night they fade away

And I don't want to be alone today
If it's gonna end it shouldn't be this way
I thought a lifetime was forever and a day
Now there isn't anymore time to save

I close my eyes and I'm falling down, falling down
Drifting to where the tide decides that I should be Screaming inside but suddenly I have no choice
Surrendering seems to be my only choice

And I don't want to be alone today
If it's gonna end it shouldn't be this way
I thought a lifetime was forever and a day
Now there isn't anymore time to save

The soft rains falling down on my cheek
I've trained myself to enjoy it's touch and what it brings
The sky opens up it gives up what it has
It's taking over, it's taking over

And I don't want to be alone today
If it's gonna end it shouldn't be this way
I thought a lifetime was forever and a day
Now there isn't anymore time to save

No more time to save...

Visit Johnny Lökke page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.