I'm not your god no matter how you look at me
I'm just a man not what you want me to be
I cry I bleed, I lust I need
Roll back straight to insane

I bury my demons deep down in alcohol
Try to get away but don't quite know how Everyday much longer than the last
Good thing you can't see

When I look into the mirror
I see a man who's waiting
Always waiting for tomorrow
Maybe then I'll be saved

I give my life, I bleed for all of you
A glimpse inside, not who you thought you knew
I scream I thirst, I pray I hurt
Roll back straight to insane

Everyday another war for me to fight
Ask for God to keep me strong again tonight
It fades to black, not coming back
Good thing you can't see

When I look into the mirror
I see a man who's waiting
Always waiting for tomorrow
Maybe then I'll be saved

When I look into the mirror
I see a man who's waiting
Always waiting for tomorrow
Maybe then I'll be saved
