

John Grant

"Caramel"

Visit "Caramel" on MotoLyrics.com

My love is the rarest jewel
And he crowns me with his love
My love he is rich like caramel
And he moves me from above

He sees me with tiger eyes
And that's where I make my home His heart is a shield which protects me from the vilest foe
His smile's an elixer which heals the wounds of my darkest years
My love is quiet I consider him and he drives away my fears

My love he reveals himself with tenderness and grace My love has constructed with his arms for me the safest place
His laughter destroys my doubts and lifts me up so high
His voice it is soothing like a warm breeze on a summer night
When he envelops me I give myself to him and my soul takes flight

Visit John Grant page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.