You were through with me as I was through with you
But never did we know That the love we had to give was just to borrow not to keep
So never would it grow
And I was just a fool for all that I had gotten used to along the way
And now our time has run us out, surely as you must surely doubt
How we behaved

You would had enough of me and I enough of you
But never would we say That the truth that you once told were nearly lies that I believed
And could never be reclaimed

And I was just a fool for all that I had gotten used to
along the way
surely doubt
How we behaved
How half-heartedly behaved

along the way
surely doubt
How we behaved
How half-heartedly behaved
