Love is but a word that you use against me,
I leaked every wound trying to rid myself
Of all this residu, you left a trace I can't erase,
Time and time again I fell for it.

Can you tell me when we both begin to fall?
Did you lose any sleep over this at all?
Now you tell me that it's time to move along Well, I'm gone, now I'm just another headstone in your graveyard.
Just another headstone.

Time heals every bruise, or so they say,
But I'm left feeling used, try to argue
With the sense that I have left,
You shot a hole I can't ignore,
And time and time again I fell for it.

Can you tell me when we both begin to fall?
Did you lose any sleep over this at all?
Now you tell me that it's time to move along Well, I'm gone, now I'm just another headstone in your
graveyard.

Can you raise me from the dead and leave my heart to rest
So I can love again?
Can you raise me from the dead and leave my heart to rest
So I can love again?
Can you raise me from the dead and leave my heart to rest
So I can love again?
Can you raise me from the dead and leave my heart to rest
So I can love again?

Can you tell me when we both begin to fall?
Did you lose any sleep over this at all?
Now you tell me that it's time to move along Well, I'm gone, now I'm just another headstone in your

graveyard.
