We are wearing a mask in the truth parade,
We are waving our flags up holding this charade.
We are hiding while you're watching and it's killing me.
Hoping a lie doesn't fade in this masquerade.

Eloquent and elevate we're showing through our smiles,
Money trees and prophecies and list can go for miles,
My oh my, my oh my, my oh my,
Have we genuinely lost our minds this time?

We are wearing a mask in the truth parade,
We are waving our flags up holding this charade.
We are hiding while you're watching and it's killing me.
Hoping a lie doesn't fade in this masquerade.

Standing still like mannequins, expecting them to follow,
Feed and planned, spiritually, speaking lies like fortune tellers.
My oh my, my oh my, my oh my,
Have we genuinely lost our minds this time?

We are wearing a mask in the truth parade,
We are waving our flags up holding this charade.
We are hiding while you're watching and it's killing me.
Hoping a lie doesn't fade in this masquerade.

Are we hurting more than we are saving,
Will these masks ever come out?

We are wearing a mask in the truth parade,
We are waving our flags up holding this charade.
We are hiding while you're watching and it's killing me.
Hoping a lie doesn't fade in this masquerade.
