When my heart burns low
And my dark eyes teem
When my hopes are passing
And swept downstream
When the empty days
Melt to endless nights
When I stumble and falter
You carry me

May your grace and your love
Always be here with me
May your strength bear my weight
Over land and sea
May I know for all time
That you walk by my side
When I stumble and falter
You carry me

When I lose my direction
And cannot find the way
When the night overcomes me
And shadows haunt my day
May I know when I call
You are only a moment away

When the seasons are high
And the breeze takes me on
When my troubles are few
And the challenges none
When my dry eyes are clear
May I always know
When I stumble and falter
You carry me
