Will you be my darling?
I have become the cold floor lately
Without much, I'll lay and wait

And I'm a white car in the wake
Of your endless mourning
So tell me who's afraid of change

Yeah, they will tell you we're the same
But you know I treat you different
You're my pretty, pretty princess
Girl, you know it

Now that I'm gone

Scream your loudest
If he's in your basement
If he's touching your skin
I'll kill him
Held my brush to his head
Said I'd paint this whole town red
Crack my heart and spill it

Were you crying baby?
Were you surprised to find me waiting?
Cause I had half the nerve to leave

And then I lost the will to breathe
Now I'm choking on this
I'm choking, look at me

Now that I'm gone

Scream your loudest
If he's in your basement
If he's touching your skin
I'll kill him
Held my brush to his head
Said I'd paint this whole town red
Crack my heart and spill it
And spilled it

And spilled it
And spilled it

Oh, can we
Take a second, please
To breathe
Oh, can we
Take a second, please
To breathe

Scream your loudest
If he's in your basement
If he's touching your skin
I'll kill him
Held my brush to his head
Said I'd paint this whole town red
Crack my heart and spill it

Scream your loudest
If he's in your basement
I'll kill him
