I am a rooster singing
announcing the arrival of a new day I am a bird without wings
walking these lonely city streets
singing: let me be. Let me be free!
Free for I was born by the sea!

Maybe this life is nothing but a dream within a dream, and These concrete city walls are only good for molding slaves
singing: let me be. Let me be free!
Free for I was born by the sea!

I'm a caged bird set free
going where sunsets are lime green, flying I can feel this life like lightening rushing through my veins
singing: let me be! Let me be free!
Free for I was born by the sea!

Sometimes in my dreams
I am a bird without a song, suddenly I'm awoken by a bird perched outside my window
singing: let me be! Let me be free!
Free for I was born by the sea!
