Mayflowers on the sand
a red moon is on the horizon... oh it's so clear and every day brings a change it never seems quite the same, oh yeah lay some ease on your mind won't you set down that load and start all over you're waiting for the perfect dream situation never seen oh yeah/(chorus) times comes like no other when you know it's real you may discover it's the way you feel your wings were made to fly this time there ain't no maybe when you know it's real these wings were made to fly, high so don't waste your time, only you can decide (chorus end) so when did you come to feel making time with the unreal is a better way to be? in the mirror that's on the wall does it tell you of your crucial fall (chorus)
so don't you give up on your faith when you wake up to the morning sun can't you feel the promise that it brings and when you're long gone on your journey don't look back, only think of me when you get there/(chorus)
so don't waste your time don't you walk away from it don't waste your time a little love is going to make it happen once you set down that load
