"Daybreak"

My soul surrenders to the lonely sea
My spirit leaves with words unspoken
Don't cry if ever once I broke your heart
I'm sorry it was the child inside
I know time and tide of men will ebb and flow
With all these tears and heartache
Now this hymn to her unites two lonely souls
Together in the daybreak
Time shows fair weather friends abandon you
Remember and I will be reborn
Love grows above what fate has handed you
It's darkest right before the dawn
Although ocean storms may cloud an April sky
I'll be there when you wake
There's no force on earth could tear this love apart
Forever in the daybreak
Though every silver lining has a cloud
Have faith and never doubt
Please don't cry
I'm always at your side
Our love will never die
This love will never die
