"Rebel Hiss"

Hey!

It's that funny little feeling I haven't shook off yet Don't wanna try, don't wanna die, don't know what to do

Instead

Cos it's much more entertaining to just watch the puppet

Show

Where they force your hand to make you a man, then say,

"Don't be a hero"

Forgot for what I'm searching, the devil may not care
I've been everywhere, and it ain't out there, but I can Hear the rebel hiss, and it says...

"We don't owe what you said

It don't show what we know

Choose your side, don't forget

We outgrow overthrow"

Every waking moment spent plotting out the way

Count back the years, dry off the tears, your life has

Slipped away

So be careful what you wish for, cos it just might come

True

You've got a taste, now have to face just what's become

Of you, now say...

Who said, who said, who said they know?

Know? No

Can you save me in my heyday?
