

98 Degrees

"He'll Never Be What I Used To Be To You"

Visit "He'll Never Be What I Used To Be To You" on MotoLyrics.com

I heard you found yourself a new man
And to see you're happy as it can be
When you play the game that you can
Does he give you everything you need
In good time, gonna find
?

It's too late, change your fate
Stay away with him, take my play

He'll never be what I used to be to you
So if you wanna play the fool
Then make that move
And do what you gotta do
You'll never find a heart that satisfies you
Cause you really never know
But soon you'll see
That he'll never be what I used to be to you

Does he even have a notion
What you really feel inside
Are you going through the motions
Living in a life that let you satisfied
At night, be in love
Something telling you it just ain't right
Not to say, out of play
When you're waiting, do you call my name

(He'll never be me)
I gave you all love
What were you thinking of
Guess it was just a game
And it's all the same to you
Too late to try again
?
This time I'm moving on
And what you gonna do

Visit 98 Degrees page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

